the effect severely. The price of hay, potatoes, beans, cattle, etc., depends largely in this state upon the markets created by active business in the pineries. They also depend considerably upon the demand from the iron mining regions in the upper progressing. The Morrison tariff bill peninsula. The Morrison tariff bill puts iron on the free list, and thus threatens to greatly check iron mining in Michigan. The price of hay in particular depends upon the business of the pineries and the mining regions. Under the present tariff the protection which the farmers receive against the importation of hay from Canada is $2 per ton. The Morrison tariff puts hay on the free list. If the Morrison tariff becomes a law the pipers of Michigan and the iron pineries of Michigan and the iron regions can import their hay free from Canada; and their potatoes, beaus, beef, pork, oats, meal and vegetables at a reduction of 20 per cent. They can also import their working cattle and horses from Candis at 20 per cent reduction. Canathe above list at a reduction of 20 weeks at per cent., thus injuring the markets for Michigan farmers. When to these durages the farmers of Michigan add their losses on wool and grain they will have good reason to regret the election of democratic or fusion congressmen, and to fear the further decreased. for Michigan farmers. When to these injuries which will be sure to befall them if a democratic president and congress are elected next fall.—Post and Tribune.

The Effect on Michigan Farmers.

All that part of the Morrison tariff bill which reduces the tariff on farm products, or which puts any of them on the free list, is a direct blow to the farmers of Michigan and the states boode in upon Canada. Farm products are not generally imported into the United States from any other country than Canada. Farm products are not generally imported into the United States from any other country than Canada. The manifest design of these reductions is to affect the farmers along the Canada frontier. The following are some of the changes which strike directly at the farmers of Michigan.
